TAMPA'S HANLON ACOUSTICAL CEILINGS WINS CONSTRUCTION EXCELLENCE AWARD FOR WORK AT USF MORSANI COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

TAMPA, Fla., May 2020 – Tampa-based subcontractor, Hanlon Acoustical Ceilings, has been named a gold winner in CISCAs 2020 Construction Excellence Awards for work at the University of South Florida's new Morsani College of Medicine building in downtown Tampa.

- CISCA (Ceilings and Interior Systems Construction Association) is the global premier authority for the ceilings and interior systems industry. Annually, CISCA hosts the highly respected Construction Excellence Awards Competition to recognize the most technically impressive ceilings projects completed in the nation.

The work had special, local ties for Hanlon – a few team members are USF alumni. Lindsey Olds, a 2014 USF graduate, took on the task of managing this project and representing her alma mater.

“As a USF alumna, I took some pride in knowing I had a part in shaping USF's path in downtown Tampa.” – Olds, Hanlon Senior Project Manager.

Being one of Hanlon's largest scope projects to date, USF Morsani brought challenges the team had never encountered. From space restraints due to the number of trades working at once to the complications that come with constructing a high-rise building in the middle of a city's most highly transited downtown area, Hanlon saw it all.

“We certainly encountered many challenges throughout the project, but we never doubted our team's ability to collectively rise to the occasion.” – Nick Contag, President of Hanlon Acoustical Ceilings
